Farmers Mutual

The Farmers Mutual story has been one of continued success and growth since their founding in 1891. For more than 100 years, they offered insurance only in Nebraska, eventually growing to their current position as the leading Nebraska-based insurer of homes, farms, and automobiles in the state.

In 1998, they broadened their horizons and began offering their products in South Dakota. In just a few short years, they have become a major participant in the South Dakota insurance market, and will continue to work towards their goal of becoming one of the leading writers of personal lines there.

Although they only write business in Nebraska and South Dakota, they are one of the 100 largest mutual companies in America. Their success is a reflection of the confidence they have earned from their policyholders and the independent professional agents who sell their policies.
